Are you locked with fatty POS machines and POS solutions? we are here to help you move towards lighter solution with our LiteRetail POS solution, which is a true cloud based web POS and no need to install any application locally in your PCs or costly POS machines.

LiteRetail is a next generation POS solution from Tejasco, helps you manage your entire inventory and sales process from anywhere and everywhere with ease of use.
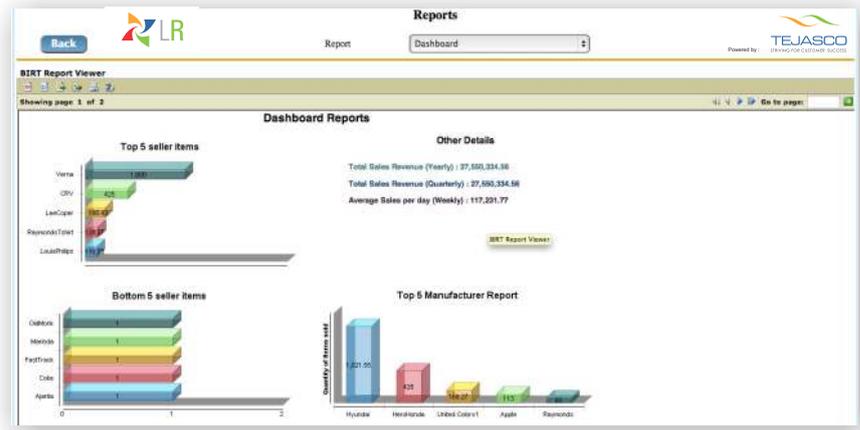

How it works

Cloud based web POS is the latest trend in point of sale software application. This trend is gaining popularity very quickly. The system can be accessed directly from the Internet and is often compatible with most POS hardware (cash drawers, printers, etc.) Cloud based POS systems are less expensive, and they're convenient because merchants can access customer data from anywhere with an Internet connection. This is great if you're a small business who sells in a brick and mortar store, ecommerce store, and also does the occasional trade show or farmers market. When you use a cloud based POS and link it up to your cloud server your inventory automatically is updated. LiteRetail comes with HQ modules and client based sales module inbuilt.

LiteRetail

Tejasco's Cloud based web POS solution

LiteRetail is rich in feature:

Our recent survey with most of the SMB (Small and Medium Business) retailers had one common problem and that was to bring down the capital expenses, reduce IT infrastructure burden and yet have a sturdy and secured Retail Management System. All these factors have compelled Tejasco to build a 100% cloud based Retail Management Suite called 'LiteRetail'.

LiteRetail as its called Lite firstly since the data resides on the cloud with complete security that helps you manage business from anywhere and anytime. Secondly it brings down your capital investment on infrastructure by 40% and zero liability of license renewals.

LiteRetail is built on open source technology stack that reduces your burden on investing on software licenses (Windows, Databases etc.)

Its hosted on one of the most secured and admired hosting sites, Amazon which brings down your burden to procure servers.

All you need is basic configuration system with Linux OS and browser to run the application irrespective of you have internet or not. The application's sales management module can run on Android Tablets which will further enhance the usability at counters
